

Subject Prospecting log book entry
From Rebecca Lawson <beckalawson@gmail.com>
To Mark Shinwell <mshinwell@gmail.com>, Tom Crossley <tcac2@cam.ac.uk>
Date 2018-07-13 10:56

Here are my notes from our day beyond Fisch Gesicht.

Once we have a logbook and a printer at base camp we're collectively responsible for printing this out and stapling it into the logbook :-)

Mark, I could do with some hand-holding about where to put the photos before they are all forgotten, ta.

11 July 2018

Becka Lawson, Mark Shinwell, Tom Crossley

Prospecting past Fisch Gesicht, beyond the ski pole line

After the first spit had been set we realised that we'd forgotten the bolts, doh, so the tags for these caves have been hammered into cracks and only cucc-2018-ms01 has a hole drilled.

cucc-2018-ms01

Becka's phone GPS 33+ 410730 5274320 Alt 1698m Accuracy 4m

Description: Rubble slope with snow plug down to a jammed boulder. Wriggle down next to it to a 45° ramp down. This levels off to a tight squeeze down to a small chamber. Around 30m long with no draft.

Sketch: see notes and photo on Becka's phone at 09:30 on 13/7/18

Notes: tag hammered into crack near to placed spit

Photo: Becka's phone at 14:00

cucc-2018-ms02 Blitz Baum Schacht (Lightening Tree Shaft)

Becka's phone GPS 33+ 410635 5283186 Alt 1724m Accuracy 4m (see also Mark's GPS)

Description: Around 30m NNE (say 020) from distinctive, large, dead tree struck by lightning. A 30m+ shaft, rocks rattle for several seconds. Hole ~5m long x 1m wide.

Notes: tag hammered into crack on flat area on long side

Photo: Becka's phone and Mark's phone at 14:56

cucc-2018-ms03 Zufall Hoehle (Coincidence Cave)

Becka's phone GPS 33+ 410376 5283124 Alt 1714m Accuracy 3m (see also Mark's GPS)

Description: Squeeze through boulders then drop down c2 and along a tall, narrow rift for ~10m to head of ~7m pitch. Weak draft out. This was re-found by Dickon and Jon later the same day and they said there was also a phreatic tube visible from the pitch head.

Notes: tag hammered into above entrance boulders

Photo: Becka's phone and Mark's phone at 16:10

cucc-2018-ms04

Marks's phone GPS 00409613 5282951 Alt 1680m Accuracy 3m

Description: 10m+ shaft, approx 2m long x 0.5m wide, in a line of similar shafts

Notes: tag hammered into crack

Photo: Mark's phone at 17:00